

Petals of Self Worth

Fill in the petals of the flower with things you value about yourself that have nothing to do with your appearance. If you're having a hard time thinking of things to include, think of compliments you have received from others.